

Contents

EDITORIAL

- DYLAN TAYLOR,
SUE BRADFORD
& JACK FOSTER     The Right to Housing     11

ARTICLES

- VANESSA COLE     A Case for Universal State Housing     19
MARK SOUTHCOMBE     Re-socialising Aotearoa New Zealand Housing     47
REBECCA KIDDLE     Engaging Communities in the Design of Homes and Neighbourhoods     77

MOVEMENTS

- JASMINE TAANKINK
& HUGO ROBINSON     Dispossession and Gentrification in the Porirua Redevelopment     97

INTERVENTIONS

- JADE KAKE     Spatial Justice—Decolonising Our Cities
and Settlements     123
ELYJANA ROACH     Driving Through the East     137

INTERVIEW

- CAMIA YOUNG
& THOMAS NASH     Envisioning Regenerative Communities     145

REVIEWS

- PETER HOWLAND     Setting the Scenes of Early Pākehā     166
JACK FOSTER     A Global Fix     174
DAMIAN SLIGO-GREEN     The Path Home     182

Contents Overview

The Right to Housing

DYLAN TAYLOR, SUE BRADFORD & JACK FOSTER

An introduction to this special issue of Counterfutures.

A Case for Universal State Housing

VANESSA COLE

Universal state housing as a practical solution to Aotearoa New Zealand's trenchant housing crisis. Affordable, secure, and decommodified housing for all.

Re-socialising Aotearoa New Zealand Housing

MARK SOUTHCOMBE

A vision for a 21st-century cooperative-housing model for Aotearoa New Zealand. Cooperative housing as a third way between ownership and renting.

Engaging Communities in the Design of Homes and Neighbourhoods

REBECCA KIDDLE

Reflections on best practice for community engagement in urban-redevelopment projects. Empowering communities through effective, meaningful, and culturally relevant engagement processes.

Dispossession and Gentrification in the Porirua Redevelopment

JASMINE TAANKINK & HUGO ROBINSON

An account of the Porirua regeneration project from Housing Action Porirua. Community resistance to state-led gentrification.

Spatial Justice—Decolonising Our Cities and Settlements

JADE KAKE

An argument for urban-planning reform and spatial justice. Implementing the kāinga model as practical decolonisation.

Driving Through the East

ELYJANA ROACH

Reflections on effective community-engagement practices in Porirua. To provide suitable housing and neighbourhoods for Pasifika, architects and urban planners must expand their cultural kete.

Envisioning Regenerative Communities

CAMIA YOUNG & THOMAS NASH

Interviewed by Dylan Taylor, Camia Young and Thomas Nash imagine a new era of regenerative urban design.

Setting the Scenes of Early Pākehā

PETER HOWLAND

Review of Ian Smith, Pākehā Settlements in a Māori World. The archaeology of early colonial settlements in Aotearoa told in five phases.

A Global Fix

JACK FOSTER

Review of Raquel Rolnik, Urban Warfare. A global panorama of housing policy in the era of footloose financial capital.

The Path Home

DAMIAN SLIGO-GREEN

Review of Samuel Stein, Capital City. A critical account of the age of real-estate capital and the transformation of the city.

Contributors

SUE BRADFORD

Activist on jobs, welfare, and housing issues for many years and former Green MP (1999–2009). She has a PhD in public policy and currently works for Kotare Research and Education for Social Change in Aotearoa.

VANESSA COLE

PhD candidate at University of Auckland and researcher at Economic and Social Research Aotearoa. She is co-chair of Auckland Action Against Poverty and has been involved for many years in housing and welfare research and action.

JACK FOSTER

PhD candidate at Victoria University of Wellington and researcher for Economic and Social Research Aotearoa.

PETER HOWLAND

Former tabloid journalist by mistake, anthropologist by training, sociologist by occupation, and neo-Marxist by moral and analytical compulsion. His books include Social, Cultural and Economic Impacts of Wine (2014) and Wine, Terroir and Utopia: Making New Worlds (2019).

JADE KAKE

Ko Jade Kake tāna ingoa. He uri tēnei nō Ngāpuhi, Te Whakatōhea me Te Arawa. He kaihoahoa, he kaituhituhi, he kaihāpai ia. Ko te mahi tuhituhi i ngā 'decolonisation', i ngā hapū rangatiratanga, i ngā 'Māori-futurism' tāna aronga nui.

REBECCA KIDDLE

Ngāti Porou, Ngāpuhi. Senior lecturer in urbanism at the School of Architecture, Te Herenga Waka Victoria University of Wellington. Her research and practice-based work focuses on Māori placemaking and decolonial and spatial justice.

THOMAS NASH

Social entrepreneur in residence at Massey University, co-director of New Zealand Alternative, and regional councillor for Greater Wellington, where he chairs the Climate Committee. Before returning home to Aotearoa New Zealand in 2017, Thomas worked overseas as a humanitarian and disarmament campaigner.

ELYJANA ROACH

Samoan-Australian architectural designer who grew up in Porirua. Elyjana is passionate about the future of Porirua and has worked with the Porirua council on future-planning policies such as the District Plan and the Growth Strategy.

HUGO ROBINSON

Pākehā. Was raised in Tūranganui-a-kiwa and currently lives in Pōneke. They are passionate about unionism and constitutional transformation.

DAMIAN SLIGO-GREEN

Pōneke-based digital strategist and financial advisor. He is a member of the Enspiral network, founding director of Bamboo Creative, and co-author of Better Work Together (2019), a book exploring the means and methods of working horizontally.

MARK SOUTHCOMBE

Fellow of the New Zealand Institute of Architects, a director of Southcombe Architects, a specialist design consultancy, and senior lecturer at the School of Architecture, Victoria University of Wellington.

JASMINE TAANKINK

Taranaki Tūturu, Pākehā. A mother, unionist, housing activist, and student living in Porirua East, where she was raised.

DYLAN TAYLOR

Lecturer in sociology at Te Herenga Waka Victoria University of Wellington and researcher for Economic and Social Research Aotearoa.

CAMIA YOUNG

Trustee for the Hillary Institute and Ohu Foundation. She is the founding director of Ohu Development Ltd, XCHC Ltd, and Collett's Corner Ltd. Camia practiced as an architect in Europe prior to moving to Ōtautahi Christchurch in 2011.